Summer Reading Around the Corner!

The month of May is a quiet one at the library simply because we're so busy prepping for Summer Reading! This year's theme is Tails & Tales and our program will be centered around each week being a different biome and the animals that live in that biome. We will be doing a mix of three different style programs: in-person, virtual, and passive take & makes. If you'd like to be on our Summer Reading mailing list, please head over to our website and add your name to the list! You can find it at www.eastkingstonlibrary.org. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us!

Voting Reminder

Quick reminder: town will be voting on town budget, school budget, and a bunch of warrant articles on Tuesday, May 11th, from 8am to 7pm at the East Kingston Elementary School.

Raised Beds

Those driving by the library may have noticed our newest additions! Raised beds! The students of the East Kingston Elementary School have been working with the EKES Community Engagement Committee and town officials and have put together a "Growing Together" project. This project is to beautify the town of East Kingston. The raised beds were donated to the library through this wonderful project. We are hoping to have some delightful beds full of flowers and veggies within the coming months. You can read the letter the student representatives wrote for the EK Edition at eastkingstonlibrary.org/east-kingston-edition under the May volume. We'd like to say THANK YOU to all those involved in getting us these beds. We can't wait to put them to good use!

Happy Retirement, Conrad!

After 25+ years of being a Trustee for the East Kingston Public Library, Conrad is retiring! Conrad was vital in so many aspects of our library and the community. We wouldn't have the beautiful building we have today without Conrad!

Enjoy some pictures of Conrad and next time you see him out and about, please wish him a happy retirement!

Thank you, Conrad!
