

2022 SEPTEMBER BULLETIN

EAST KINGSTON
PUBLIC LIBRARY

Courageous Community Conversations

In September, the East Kingston Public Library is beginning a program series alongside the MEB Memorial Library (Brentwood) and the Exeter Public Library. This will be a two month series and is called Courageous Community Conversations, or C3 for short.

This new program series is based around tough conversations about race, gender and history of New Hampshire.

Programs will be held at all three libraries throughout the series and are open and welcome to all those who want to join the conversation.

Stay tuned for a more in-depth look at the series coming in a few days.

Book Club Starts Again

After a brief hiatus, the East Kingston Library Book Club is back on! We meet on the last Wednesday of every month and discuss what we've read! This month, the book is The Stormchasers by Jenna Blum.

Copies are available to check out at the library and anyone is welcome to join! Septembers meeting will be on 9/28 at 5:30pm.

Great Stone Face Book Club Starts Again

Our Great Stone Face Book Club is also starting back up! We meet on Saturdays at 1pm and read books that were chosen to be nominated or awarded with the Great Stone Face Award! This months book is The Rooftoppers by Katherine Rundell. We've got copies available for checkout at the library.
